a prior one. But of Bundy he felt there was no real loyalty to the Kennedys (a judgment in which Robert Kennedy had concurred), nor to Johnson, but only toward self and sense of class.

HALBERSTAM'S "LYNDON."
ESQUIRE 8/72